Your Last Cent

Have you ever felt the last cent in your pocket or purse and wondered where the next was coming from? Have you ever stopped to think that if you saved just a little of the money you spend foolishly; how much better off you would be?

Unless you SAVE part of your income you will never SUCCEED. If your income is entirely consumed by your expenditures you cannot get ahead. If the outgo exceeds the income it means a serious handicap of debt. Become INDEPENDENT—and the only way to do it is to save, SAVE, SAVE.

This is a serious matter and you should give it your consideration. There is no real reason why you should reach the "last penny" stage. Start a BANK ACCOUNT with this bank NOW.

The public schools enjoyed the usual Thanksgiving vacation yesterday and today.

The W. C. T. U. will meet with Mrs. Kennedy on Wednesday, December 4th at 2:30 o'clock.

Mr. and Mrs. H. V. Archibald have gone to Reno, Nevada, to visit their son, Chester, and wife.

Mr. and Mrs. Easton Carter were down from Palo Alto to spend the holiday with relatives.

Remember you can get Lowney's Chocolates at THE ORCHARD CITY DRUG CO.—Adv.

Mr. and Mrs. H. Schnackenburg went to Ventura Tuesday where they expect to spend a part of the winter.

Jesse Hayes, Guy Farley and Roy Sawyer came home to eat Thanksgiving turkey with their respective families.

The Campbell Improvement Club will meet Friday evening. Important business is to be transacted and a full attendance is requested.

Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Berry have returned from their extended vacation trip.

Miss Matilda Hayes who is teaching at Winters is spending her vacation at home.

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Ainsley leave San Francisco tomorrow for Honolulu on a few weeks vacation.

Mrs. Rice and daughter of Lodi arrived Wednesday and were guests of Mrs. Walton for the holiday.

Richard Pitman and Richard Parker were down from San Francisco and ate dinner at the Pitman home.

Miss Ernestine Kennedy has gone to Berkeley to spend the week-end with Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Spaulding.

D. S. Thompson and family ate Thanksgiving dinner with their son George, in The Willows, San Jose.

Mrs. J. E. Atkinson, formerly of Sunnyside, but who has been spending some time at Long Beach, has removed to Santa Barbara, where she intends making her future home.

Mrs. J. T. Jennings and son, James, Jr., of Los Angeles are visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. D. S. Thompson of McCoy Avenue. Mr. Jennings expects to come up for the Christmas holidays.

Mrs. A. C. Robertson of Los Gatos, Mr. and Mrs. Ringe and Mr. and Mrs. Olds ate their turkey yesterday with Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Alexander, following a yearly custom of meeting from house to house.

Robert Whitaker of Los Gatos will speak in Y. M. C. A. Building Tuesday evening, Dec. 3rd. Subject, "The New Democracy". Arrangements are being made to have Mr. Whitaker speak in Campbell once a month.

C. B. Miracle and party, who had been hunting in the San Joaquin valley, going as far as Los Banos, met with fair success, bagging a few geese and a number of ducks, but the weather was too nice to make ideal hunting.

A number of the ladies have suggested that the appearance of our village would be materially improved if a few receptacals for waste paper and garbage should be placed along our streets and used by the public. It would materially assist in the efforts to beautify the town to have the streets clean.

The High School grounds were the scene of an enthusiastic rally Wednesday evening when the members of the school gathered around a huge bonfire and made the welkin ring with their war-cries in the form of school yells. This was the first attempt of the kind but will undoubtedly not be the last.

The members of the Countrywoman's Club are enthusiastic over their success in securing Mrs. James Hazlett of San Francisco to give before the people of Campbell her remarkable recital of the Book of Job. This recital will be held at the Congregational Church on the evening, Dec. 17th. Remember the date.

J. Springer and family who lived on their ranch on Santa Clara Road south of Campbell, removed to Alameda recently. Mr. Springer was formerly in the quarter-master's department of the army and has returned to his position. The duties of that department have been increased by having charge of the Commissariat, as that department has been combined with the quarter-master's.

The spirit of improvement which is so predominant now-a-days is showing more signs in Campbell. Messrs. Zion, I. Preston and Whitman are among the latest to put in cement walks along their residence lots, part of the work being already finished. Mr. Whitman has removed the fence from around his house, which greatly improves the general appearance of the property.

The Home and School Club will meet at the Campbell Grammar School, Tuesday, Dec. 3 at 3 p. m.

The Committee on Hygiene, Mr. Graves, chairman, will entertain the club.

Every body interested in the Home and School is cordially invited to be present.

Country Woman's Club Entertained

The Countrywoman's Club was delightfully entertained Monday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Geo. Robson, on Los Gatos Road.

Following the business meeting, a delightful program was carried out. As the day had been set aside to commemorate the 135th birthday of San Jose, the literary part of the program was devoted to a brief account of that city's history. Mrs. Marshman of San Jose, gave the first fifty years, Mrs. Allen the next fifty, and Mrs. Billiou the last thirty-five and it all proved very interesting.

The musical numbers were especially pleasing, Mrs. Shelly, accompanied by Mrs. Robson, sang two solos, and Mrs. Pixley of San Jose, accompanied by Mrs E. C. Merrill gave two excellent selections. Mrs. Merrill kindly remained at the piano and favored the company with several classical pieces, and the program closed with two solos by Mr. Baron, accompanied by Miss Beattie.

Later Mrs. Robson, with very able assistance, served dainty refreshments, and the club gave a rising vote of thanks to those who had furnished such a pleasant afternoon for them.

Debate Contest Begins

The two debating teams of the High School, Freeman Duncan and Mary Phelps, affirmative, Elon Gerken and John Wood, negative, joined in debate Friday afternoon on the question—Resolved: "That free American coast wise traffic through the Panama Canal is advisable." The decision of the judges, which was very close, was in favor of the affirmative.

Saturday evening the two teams debate with the Sequoia Union High School teams of Redwood City, the Campbell affirmative team here, and the negative team at Redwood.

Since this league was established we have lost only one debate out of five, that by a mere fraction of a point. Encourage Campbell's team by your presence and help them to win again. We will have a warm, comfortable assembly room, lots of music and yells. On the same evening the negative team of Campbell, consisting of Elon Gerken and John Wood, Florence Brown (alternate) will debate Redwood's affirmative team there.

The union Thanksgiving services at the Methodist Church Wednesday evening were very well attended and all felt that it had done them good to be there.

The Choir had prepared special music and a male quartet gave a number, all of which was highly appreciated. Rev. Atkinson made the theme of his address calling special attention to the common blessings which we are prone to overlook in comparing material blessings.

Holding the service on Wednesday evening was an experiment but judging by attendance and interest, the innovation met with popular approval and will probably be repeated.

The High School grounds were the popular resort yesterday. All three of the tennis courts were in demand throughout the morning ,one set of players succeeding another as fast as opportunity offered.

As soon as the last drum-stick had been picked and the pie well on its way to join the other good things the crowd began to gather to watch the basket ball game. A spirited contest between the Alumni and the High School team resulted in a victory for the former, score, 47-23. The Alumni had the advantage in stature and weight, but also exhibited more ginger. The High School team seemed to be too full of turkey to allow of much else. The line up was:

High School—		Alumni—
J. Righter	Forward	Geo. Beaver

The Married and Single men met yesterday afternoon on the local diamond to settle that much discussed question as to their relative baseball prowess; which resulted 19 to 12 in favor of the former. From the Call of "play ball" by his Umps, Antone Oliver, to the last man out the large crowd was kept in an uproar at the plays and mis-plays on both sides. At times the scores were run in so rapidly that the official scorer, Ethan Lanphear, needed several assistants to aid in the work. The benedicts composed of Messrs. J. D. Blaine, Prof. Cramer, C. Benner, Vaughn Lloyd, Vern Watson, Bump, Clint Crow, D. Lancaster and Shelley, demonstrated their ability. The Singles, W. McKenzie, M. Weeks, W. Smith, R. Sawyer and Luther, were always on the job at opportune times but luck was against them. At bat the singles were stronger but luck entered the game at these points also. There seemed to be too much dinner for active work and the game was called on account of weariness.

MARVELS OF SURGERY

ALMOST UNBELIEVABLE ARE THE CASES RECORDED.

Equipped With Perfect Knowledge of the Human Frame, There Seems Nothing Which the Modern Doctor May Not Accomplish.

Since the days when Shakespeare drew that serio-comic picture of the apothecary, surgical science has certainly made wonderful strides. You know the barber's pole is painted white and red, because in bygone days the barber was the only dentist, and the white streaks stood for the lather plastered on the jaws of humanity, while the red stripes typified the blood thta flows from human gums when you pull aching teeth with an instrument little more handy than a pair of tongs. Shakespeare's apothecary and the old-fashioned dentist stood fo rabout all the surgical skill there was in the world.

It is a long course from that to the surgery practiced at Redding, Cal., not long since, when a six-year-old boy fell from the rafters of a barn 12 feet to the floor, striking on his stomach and producing copious hemorrhage in the abdomen. This would have presented a task for Shakespeare's apothecary, and the dentist of that day which would have been far beyond their skill. It was really an easy job for the surgical science of today to handle. The expert surgeons simply laid the child on his back, cut his abdomen open, took therefrom every one of the internal organs, found the hemorrhage to proceed from the diaphragm, an unusual place to be ruptured, sewed up the wound, replaced all the organs, including the stomach, as they should be, then sewed up the abdomen and laid the boy away quite comfortably to rest and recuperate.

Every organ in the abdomen of the child had been taken from its place and had lain on a table for an hour, they had all been replaced properly, and the hope of the child's recovery at the time this is written is great.

Modern surgical science can do greater things than this. It can take the heart out of a human breast and hold that palpitating vital organ in its hands, operate around it with its delicate instruments, remove obstructions therefrom, and otherwise administer to the recuperation of its perfectly healthful action, put it back in place, and the subject suffer no permanent injury.

Unreflective persons are given to sneering at medical science, and no doubt the medical faculty admit young men to practice medicine who are not thoroughly equipped for the task. But that is a small matter weighed against the devotion of conscientious physicians who grudge no pains in learning how to minister to bodies and minds diseased. There is no science in which a larger number of devoted men spend more years or give more thorough study to the improvement of professional knowledge and the scientific treatment of the subjects coming under their care than the medical profession. Nor is there any other profession to which the human family owes a greater debt of gratitude for their unwearying attention in sickness and accidents.—Exchange.

The French Presidency.

Several persons are named for the presidency of the French republic to succeed M. Fallieres, whose seven-year term of office expires with the beginning of the new year. Among them are Leon Bourgeois, who it is said, would have a "walk over"—this American term now appearing in French politics. But M. Bourgeois will not declare himself a candidate. Antonin Dubois, despite his pretentions, will have no chance for the reason that he is president of the senate and the chamber of deputies will not consent to send to the presidency of France for the third time the president of that body. This would, it is held, have the effect of giving to the senate the privilege of naming the president of the republic. Jean Dupuy, minister of public works, has been mentioned, but he is said to lack prestige. Another name is that of M. Pams, who, however, does not, it is said, desire this high fortune, though he would accept it if it were urged upon him as a matter of duty. It is said that Mr. Poincare is the choice of M. Clemenceau, "le tigre," whose election would vacate the presidency of the council, which is the real seat of power in France, a position that M. Clemenceau would not be averse to filling again.

Mummy as "Dried Fish."

The customs authorities at Cherbourg are in a quandary as to the admission of a postal package containing the cremated remains of a Frenchman who died in New York. Not long ago their colleagues at Marseilles were confronted with a somewhat similar difficulty. A well-known French Egyptologist arrived at that port with a royal mummy. The officials were informed, on inquiry, that the case contained a Pharaoh. The tariff list was searched in vain for any such article as a Pharaoh, and it was decided to levy duty on the highest scale in order to be on the safe side. The mummy was accordingly assessed as "dried fish."

DAIRY

FALL FRESH COWS ARE BEST

If Bull Is Confined and Service Controlled, Animals May Be Managed to Suit Owner's Wish.

(By W. H. UNDERWOOD.)

It is a well known fact that by far a greater number of dairy cows are allowed to follow the most natural course, and either by indifference or intention, they freshen in the spring.

The producer of milk for sale, if he has an even trade, may want to have an even number of fresh cows in every month of the year.

If the bull is kept confined and service controlled, this can be regulated as a rule, although unpleasant irregularities in breeding will sometimes occur and stubbornly resist correction.

But, if the prime object is to produce the greatest quantity of milk of the best quality and the greatest profit with any given number of cows within a year, evidence is overwhelming that the cows should be managed so as to calve during the autumn months.

For like reasons, September is the best month in most parts of the country, for a heifer to drop her first calf in order to best develop as a cow. This almost regardless of the animal at the first calving.

Calves born in the fall are made easily reared and make better cows than those born in the spring and summer. It seems needless to rehearse the stock argument on the subject, based on long experience of successful dairymen, but a brief recapitulation may be useful.

The cow or heifer calving in the fall needs the most healthy and nutritious pasturage just following the strain while coming into full flow. Just at this time, when some falling off is likely to occur, the animal is brought to the stable and receives good care; the winter feeding and the returns from it may be depended upon to exceed the midsummer results for any like period.

At the stage of milking and gestation, when another dropping off of the milk yield may be looked for, the fresh pastures induce a fresh cow, lengthen the milking season and increase the year's total product.

December and January are good months in which to control and supervise the service of a bull. Midsummer and the dog days are a good time for the cow to be dry and preparing to calve again.

With fall-fresh cows, the greatest and richest product comes at the season when milk and butter are always comparatively high in price.

In actual practice four fall-fresh cows have been found equal to five which calved in the spring in 12 months' product and at about four-fifths the cost.

Scheme for Fastening Cream Separator to Cement Floor Tried and Found Very Satisfactory.

Here is a scheme for fastening a cream separator down on a cement floor which we have tried and found very satisfactory. Before putting in the cement floor, a three-fourths inch bolt was threaded to the middle, then put through a hole in a small piece of scrap iron, writes Dan Belt of La Crosse, Kan., in the Farmer's Mail and Breese. The bolt and iron were firmly imbedded in the fresh cement, leaving the threaded end sticking out. The base of the separator was then firmly bolted to two pieces of two by four, and the machine set directly over the bolt in the floor. Then an old disk from a disk harrow was slipped over the bolt so the edge extended out over the two by four on each side. A nut was screwed down tightly over the disk. In case the cement floor has already been laid, chisel out a hole about six inches square, making it flaring at the bottom. Then set in your bolt and fill the hole with a mixture of equal parts cement and sand.

Standing Water.

Standing water should never be allowed to remain where sheep and cattle can get free access to it, as it always has some kind of disease breeding purposes. And if they have the proper attention, so much required, nine times out of ten they will prove good breeders.

KNITTED EVENING HAT

Pretty wool head covering for opera and theater wear with high peaked crown will be one of the novelties for the coming winter season. This hood is very light and in addition tokeeping the wearer warm, will keep the hair from flying about. When removed the hood can be stuffed in the muff or coat pocket.

FOR SERVING TARTAR SAUCE

Idea Put Into Use by One Hostess Would Seem to Have Many Good Points.

A good idea for the serving of tartar sauce of mayonnaise is suggested by one enterpriisng housewife. She cuts a lemon in half, cleans out the inside thoroughly and then fills the halves with the sauce. She serves one to each guest. When fish or salad is served the little lemon cups are placed around the edge of the platter and one is taken by each guest. In this way the sauce is kept firm and strong instead of melting into a liquid when put on a hot plate.

For the home where guests are always arriving and departing there is nothing quite so nice for the windows as white cotton crepe. This may be simply hemmed or trimmed with ball fringe. For the dressers and bureaus covers of fleece-lined pique will be found very satisfactory. This may be cut into the required size and the edges buttonholed in scallops. Two sets of curtains and covers should be kept on hand, one in use and a clean one besides.

FOR YOUNG GIRL.

An effective little house dress this, made in Nile green cashmere.

it has a Magyar bodice trimmed at neck with embroidered galloon, which is shaped to fit; it is also taken down in a "V" and trims sleeves and forms waistband.

The skirt is eased to this.

Materials required 2¼ yards cashmere 44 inches wide, 2½ yards galloon, 1½ dozen buttons.

PROPER DEGREE OF NEGLECT

Sometimes Hard, Even for the Wisest Mother, to Know When to Draw the Line.

"'Wholesome' neglect is about the best kind of care a child can receive," she said. "And my children have all had plenty of it!"

The other mother was so impressed by the words of the mother of seven healthy children that she actually began to practice a little bit of "wholesome" neglect with her own ewe lamb. One day the little girl came running to her with a cut finger. Formerly that mother would have called in a physician to bind up the cut. But having decided to make use of "wholesome" neglect, she merely took out her handkerchief, wrapped it around the child's finger, dried her tears, and told her to run back and play.

The mother of the seven children happened to be present. When the little girl had run away she said to the other mother, "That is a very dangerous way to treat a cut. Do you usually follow that practice?"

"No," replied the other mother; "I usually send for the doctor. But I am following your example, and using 'wholesome' neglect."

The other mother meditated a moment, and then she said, "It is not necessary, I think, to call in a doctor when a child cuts her finger; but to bind it up with a handkerchief that has been carried even for a few hours, exposed to dust, and not to cleanse the finger thoroughly before binding it up at all, seems to me, if I may say so, to be not 'wholesome' but "unwholesome' neglect. So many persons," she went on, "confuse 'wholesome' with 'unwholesome' neglect. I don't blame them at all; it is hard always to know the one from the other!"—Home Progressive Magazine.

Feather Toques.

It seems as though a hat made of feathers should be light, and so the plumage toques are in actual weight; but they have a heavy look, thanks to their compactness, and this is not becoming. Nevertheless they will be very fashionable up till Christmas, and are already obtainable in many colors and shapes. Very few of them have brims, but nearly all belong to the saucepan, the pudding basin or the coal scuttle persuasion.

Their only trimming is in nearly every case a little knot of brilliant feathers at the side, culled from a tropic bird.

Silk Street Costumes.

The vogue for silk street costumes continues, and the colored silks which made their appearance last year are to be found in greater variety and more beautiful designs this fall. Many materials are shown in piquelike weavings in blac kand white, and are utilized for costumes and coats.

Tartan and checked material are shown in velvet and silk as well as in the regulation woolen fabrics. There are blue-green checks, through which run red, blue or orange-yellow threads and large shadow squares in dark colorings flecked with various tints.

WHY BE THANKFUL?

Some Things Which Every One Can Rejoice In.

The person does not exist who is without something to be thankful for. One who is appreciative in a small way for the bestowal of favors has, at least, augmentation to his thankfulness in the fact that he is not under obligation to return as well as to be grateful for large ones.

Are you unhappy? Be thankful that there are plenty to console and more to advise you if only an opportunity is afforded them.

Have you poor eyesight? Be thankful that you are spared seeing more than is good for you and that you have an excellent excuse for failing to perform many of the small obligations of life.

Are your eyes perfect? Be thankful that you need not contribute to the support of oculists and opticians.

Are you thin? Be thankful that you are not as the fat, who obstruct the door to progress in many ways and places.

If you are fat, be thankful. The stout woman, for example, always looks comfortable and is usually good tempered, no matter what her feelings and disposition may be.

Are you beautiful? Be thankful that you are able to fulfill every earthly desire with no more effort than is required to summon a smile of reward for those who flock to serve you.

Do you lack beauty? Be thankful that you are not harassed by the fear of losing your good looks until worry has written its unsightly lines all over your face.

If you enjoy the reputation of a wit, be thankful; for all persons who have wits are not witty, and one who is never lacks companionship or admirers.

Have you a home? Be thankful that wherever you go there accompanies you the knowledge that your own door is always open to you, no matter what the position of other doors may be.

If you are a married woman be thankful that you need never suffer, like heroines of romance, from suppressed emotions and overcharged feelings. You have always at hand one upon whom you can vent the one and to whom you may charge the other. You are secure in the stronghold of irresponsibility.

Are you a married man? Rejoice that there lives at least one person in the world who secretly believes that you are now or at least once were a paragon of perfection.

Do you add "spinster" to your legal signature? Let your soul be filled with thankfulness that your especial domains may be kept tidy and furbelowed to a degree neither appreciated nor tolerated by the masculine mind. Remember that a maiden may, if she likes, try on many engagement rings and still enjoy the feminine prerogative of failing to keep the contracts these imply.

Are you rich? Be thankful, for your opportunities to enrich the lives of others are many and even your enemies will kowtow to you.

Are you poor? Rejoice, for those whose pleasures are few and bought with an effort are best equipped heartily to enjoy them. Persons who have neither money nor possessions are not harassed by the fear of losing them nor troubled by fluctuations in the world of finance.

Have you youth? Be grateful for it. Nothing is impossible for youth to attempt, and it is from the exploitations of youth that sages draw their wisdom.

Finally, if you are old, be thankful. Age confers privileges which nothing else ever bestows. It is pleasant to be able to tell other people how to bring up their children properly, whether you ever brought up any yourself or not, and to arrogate to yourself, and sometimes express, all the wisdom which years are supposed to garner.

HIS THEORY.

Ethel—Why is the turkey regarded as especially appropriate for Thanksgiving?

Bob—Because any one who can afford to buy turkeys these days has reason to be thankful.

True Thankfulness.

Where true thankfulness is there can be no selfishness. For the honestly thankful man must be filled with a sense of his own unworthiness to enjoy the good things that come to him. Humility must mark his attitude toward his own blessings. The next step is to share them as far as this may be done with others less fortunate though quite as worthy as himself.

BARBARA'S INVITATION

"I REALLY don't see how we could go out to Aunt Barbara's for Thanksgiving dinner this year," Mrs. Maddox said thoughtfully. "You are sure she intends to ask us?" "Yes," Mrs. Lawler returned. "Just as I was leaving town I met her on the street. She spoke of our being neighbors, and then she told me that she was going to ask you all out to an old-fashioned Thanksgiving dinner. I wouldn't have mentioned it, but I supposed that you had your invitation."

"It would be fine to go there," Marion remarked. "Her pumpkin pies are about three inches deep, and her turkeys are always cooked to a Titian brown and her cranberry sauce is so delicious—"

The youngest of the Maddox family was overcome by the fervor of this description. "Oh, let's all go to Aunt Barbara's for Thanksgiving!" he cried.

"But I had hinted to Mary Thomas that we might ask her here," said his mother.

"Somebody else is sure to ask Mary," declared Marion.

"We have tickets for the Thanksgiving matinee."

"Take 'em back."

And your father and I are asked to a whist party at the Grangers' in the evening."

"Send regrets."

"Well, wait and hear what your father and Jack say," Mrs. Maddox said.

When Maddox and Jack came home to dinner they were met with the news that Mrs. Lawler had seen Aunt Barbara, and that they were all to be invited to the country for Thanksgiving. "I don't see how I can get away," Mr. Maddox said.

But Mrs. Maddox had gone over to the enemy, and she proceeded to show how they could all leave the city late on Wednesday afternoon and return early on Friday morning, send regrets to the Grangers, return their matinee tickets and defer Mary Thomas' dinner invitation until Christmas time.

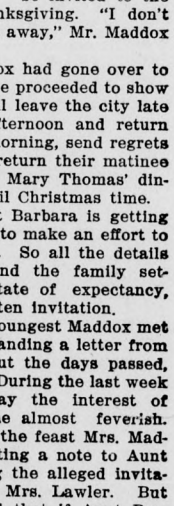
"After all, Aunt Barbara is getting old and we ought to make an effort to go," Maddox said. So all the details were arranged and the family settled back in a state of expectancy, awaiting the written invitation.

Every day the youngest Maddox met the postman, demanding a letter from his great aunt, but the days passed, and none came. During the last week before the holiday the interest of the family became almost feverish. Four days before the feast Mrs. Maddox spoke of writing a note to Aunt Barbara accepting the alleged invitation conveyed by Mrs. Lawler. But the others argued that if Aunt Barbara had forgotten to send a formal invitation, she was not expecting a formal acceptance. "She takes silence for consent, and she's too busy making pies to write," Jack said.

The day before Thanksgiving came around, but no letter from Aunt Barbara. The family held council at breakfast. "Of course, she expects us," Marion observed. "She's absent-minded, and she probably wrote a letter and stuck it behind the clock, waiting for somebody to go to the postoffice."

It was agreed that Maddox and Jack should return early from the office, then they would all take an evening train to the country and drop in on their aunt just at bedtime. Mrs. Maddox told the cook and housemaid that they could go away immediately after lunch and not return until Friday.

The Maddox family were almost ready for the train when the postman left a letter in Aunt Barbara's cramped writing. "How fortunate that we are all ready," Mrs. Maddox said, as she tore open the envelope. "Here is our invitation now."



Aunt Barbara sent greetings to all and then went on to say that she had lately seen Mrs. Lawler and told her that she was going to ask the Maddox family out to the country to Christmas dinner. "You must be sure to come," she ended. "That's why I am asking you so long before."

"The youngest Maddox set up a loud wail. Marion called Mrs. Lawler "a stupid thing," and the rest looked at each other with foolish smiles.

This is the reason that on Thanksgiving day the Maddox family sat down to steak, boiled potatoes, and a sticky rice pudding.

WIFE'S HEALTH RESTORED

Husband Declared Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Would Restore Her Health, And It Did.

Ashland, Ky. — "Four years ago I seemed to have everything the matter with me. I had female and kidney trouble and was so bad off I could hardly rest day or night. I doctored with all the best doctors in town and took many kinds of medicine but nothing did any good until I tried your wonderful remedy, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. My husband said it would restore my health and it has." — Mrs. MAY WYATT, Ashland, Ky.

There are probably hundreds of thousands of women in the United States who have been benefitted by this famous old remedy, which was produced from roots and herbs over thirty years ago by a woman to relieve woman's suffering.

Read What Another Woman says:

Camden, N. J. — "I had female trouble and a serious displacement and was tired and discouraged and unable to do my work. My doctors told me I never could be cured without an operation, but thanks to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound I am cured of that affliction and have recommended it to more than one of my friends with the best results." —Mrs. ELLA JOHNSTON, 324 Vine St.

If you want special advice write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential) Lynn, Mass. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman and held in strict confidence.

Expectant.

A man slightly under the influence of liquor strolled into the art gallery, wandered about aimlessly for a while and stationed himself in front of a painting of several mermaids half submerged in water. He regarded this picture intently for perhaps a half hour. Then he walked over to an attendant and said: "Shay, ole fellow, what time doesh tide go out, anyway?"

RAISING PONIES PAYS WELL

Thoroughbred Shetlands Are Always In Demand and Exceptionally Fine Specimens Scarce.

(By R. G. WEATHERSTONE.)

We know of no better way for a boy to start in business than by raising Shetland ponies. A very well-bred mare can be bought for $125 to $200, the latter figure being for a pure-bred.

Starting with a mare in foal, a boy should, in the course of five years, find himself in possession of enough animals to start him on the highway road to success.

It is always best to buy thoroughbreds for breeding, but if crosses are used with a thoroughbred stallion one can in time breed up to a very high standard. Shetlands are very easily kept. They require but little grain and will do very well on rocky hillsides where there is fair pasturage.

They need shelter in bad weather, of course, but an open shed, windtight on three sides, leaving the south open, will be all that is necessary.

A good wire fence is required to keep them in bounds, as Shetlands are extremely curious and somewhat restless, and will manage to get over, under or through the average farm fence.

If handled from birth, they are very easily broken and at three years old will be ready to ride or drive. Thoroughbred Shetlands find ready sale at prices ranging from $125 to $200 and exceptionally fine specimens bring even higher prices.

WEIGHING GAME IS POPULAR

New Pastime in France Meeting With Much Favor—Much Skill Required of Player.

A unique game in which the degree of skill in estimating the weight of a number of balls by holding them in the hand one at a time constitutes the ability of each player, is meeting with much favor in France. The accessories are the balance device, shown in the illustration, and two sets of balls, all alike in size, varying but slightly in weight.

In starting the game, the beam of the balance is locked in place in the same manner as the ordinary weighing balance, and each player takes a set of balls and proceeds to place them, one at a time, in the depressions in the respective pans. The object of each player is to place the heaviest of the balls in the depressions farthest from the center of the balance. After the balls are in place, the beam is released and a hand on top of the balance registers the winner and the number of points his side outweighs or outbalances that of his competitor. Thus the player who can estimate most accurately the comparative weights of the balls by simply weighing them in his hands wins the game.

WHITTIER'S DOG QUITE WISE

Canine Gave Evidence of Much Delight When Visiting Lady Sang Ballad, "Robin Adair."

During one of the last birthday celebrations of the poet Whittier he was visited by a celebrated singer. The lady was asked to sing, and, seating herself at the piano she began the beautiful ballad of "Robin Adair." She had hardly begun before Mr. Whittier's pet dog came into the room and, seating himself by her side, watched her as though fascinated, listening with delight unusual in an animal. When she had finished he came and put his paw very gently into her hand and licked her cheek.

"Robin takes that as a tribute to himself," said Mr. Whittier. "He also is 'Robin Adair.'"

The dog, hearing his own name, evidently considered that he was the hero of the song. From that moment, during the lady's visit he was her devoted attendant. He kept by her side while she was indoors, and when she went away he carried her bag in his mouth to the gate and watched her departure with every evidence of distress.

Naturally.

Tommy had been given two new pennies—one for candy and the other for Sunday school.

"Mamma, I lost one of my pennies."

"Which one, dear?" she asked.

"The Sunday school one," he replied.

LOTION EASILY MADE

CLEANSING CREAM SUITABLE FOR THE TOILET TABLE.

In Many Ways Better Than Can Be Purchased, Because Desired Quantity May Always Be Prepared as Desired.

Do you like to mix your own lotions and experiment with the attractive looking formulas for creams which you so often see printed? It is a very delightful occupation and when the lotion comes out beautifully blended and with the delicate fragrance of a high-priced article; when the cream is white and smooth and dainty, one feels well repaid for one's time and effort.

There is another side to this story, however, because sometimes the lotion comes out all curdled looking and queer and the cream disintegrates and will not blend, no matter what you do. Then you register a vow that you will never, never again attempt to prepare your own cosmetics, but will spend your dollars for the prepared articles gratefully.

One great difficulty with many of the published formulas is that they are too complicated for any one but a chemist to prepare and another is because the directions are seldom clear. It is not wise to use much guess-work when mixing creams and if the formula leaves you in doubt, lay it aside for a simpler one, or take it to your druggist and ask his advice about how to put the ingredients together.

I have had frequent requests for the following formulas and I am sure you will experience no difficulty in preparing them even though you are the veriest amateur, provided you follow the directions carefully:

For a cleansing cream, heat two ounces of oil of sweet almonds and melt in it a lump of white wax as large as a walnut; when these two ingredients are well blended add a rounding tablespoon of white vaseline and a few drops of oil of rose geranium, and beat the mixture while it is cooling till it is light and creamy.

A good nourishing cream contains one-half ounce each spermaceti and white wax melted in a double boiler or dish set in a pan of boiling water; add one ounce cocoa butter, one ounce imported lanolin and three ounces sweet almond oil. When melted and thoroughly blended remove from the fire, add two ounces rosewater and one dram tincture of benzoin and beat steadily till cold.

An excellent lotion for the hands (the formula for which was sent me by one of my readers) is prepared from two ounces of glycerin, one ounce each tincture of benzoin, bay rum and alcohol, one-half ounce rosewater and five cents worth of quince seeds. Scald the quince seeds with about one quart of boiling water, cover the dish tightly and let steam. Do not remove the cover for twelve hours, then strain through a thin cloth and add the other ingredients. This is especially good to prevent the hands from chapping.

A simple lotion which is said to possess bleaching and refining properties is made from a half ounce of glycerin mixed with a half pint of orange flower water and a level tablespoonful of powdered borax dissolved in the mixture. Another lotion which is often recommended requires one ounce oil of sweet almonds, one ounce glycerin, two ounces strained lemon juice and ten drops of carbolic acid. A few drops of rose may be added for perfume if desired and the special benefit of the lotion is to cure the chapped and roughened condition of the hands caused from the cold weather.

ANSWERS TO QUERIES.

California: Exercise will do more to harden your muscles and increase your appetite and digestive powers than anything else I can suggest. Go out every day and dig in that lovely garden and thank your lucky stars that you have the garden to enjoy. The pleasure of active work will do more to clear away the cobwebs from your sky than any other thing you can undertake and an hour a day out in the sunshine and fresh air and among the growing things will work marvels in your health and also your looks.

New Reader: You will never succeed in restoring your hair to its natural thickness and beauty by the methods you are following. Quite the contrary effect will result, as they are altogether too strenuous. The hair and scalp are never benefited by harsh treatment any more than the face would be. You can do more harm by such treatment than you can undo in years. Gentle brushing is advisable, but it should never be carried even near the point of irritating the scalp.

Nettie D: If you will keep a bowl of corn meal, moistened with vinegar, on the shelf near the kitchen sink and rub this mixture well over the hands immediately after taking them out of soapy water, it will counteract the harmful effect of the soap and will also remove ordinary stains. Rinse the hands in clear water and just before they are perfectly dried rub a soothing lotion well into the skin. If you will do this regularly you can keep your hands in very good condition.

Coughs and Colds

You could not please us better than to ask your doctor about Ayer's Cherry Pectoral for coughs, colds, croup, bronchitis. Thousands of families always keep it in the house. The approval of their physician and the experience of many years have given them great confidence in this standard cough medicine. Sold for seventy years.

Any good doctor will tell you that a medicine like Ayer's Cherry Pectoral cannot do its best work if the bowels are constipated. Ask your doctor if he knows anything better than Ayer's Pills for correcting this sluggishness of the liver.

GROWS 7 INCHES IN 6 MONTHS.

Dr. G. A. Gibson, a British physician, speaks very highly of the use of small doses of thyroid extract in influencing growth. He tells us of the son of one of his medical friends. The boy was in his eighteenth year, one inch below five feet in height. He had set his whole mind upon entering Woolwich, for which his one and only chance was just about six months ahead. The family turned to the doctor in deep distress, as they felt that to obtain a growth of four inches in six months would be as great a feat as the addition of the proverbial cubit to the stature. By the employment of thyroid extract the youth grew seven inches in six months, and, as he obtained one of the highest places in the entrance examination for Woolwich, it was obvious that his cerebral functions had been in nowise disturbed by the treatment. Dr. Gibson says that in many young people, along with satisfactory growth as regards height, there is rather too much corporeal bulk and rather too little cerebral (brain) energy. Under thyroid treatment they become more slender, and the sluggishness of the intellectual processes entirely disappears.

HISTORIC CHURCH BRINGS $80.

The historic old brick church five miles from here at Mainland was sold under the hammer at Norristown, the county seat. All that the little edifice brought was $80, and there is talk among the worshipers of raising a fund to buy the church back from the purchaser.

It has been used by almost every denomination and is regarded as the landmark of colonial days in this section of the state. While the continental army was at Valley Forge it was the nearest church for the soldiers, and General Washington and his staff frequently rode across the valley and attended services there.

In the burying ground about the church scores of the soldiers who died in that terrible winter's hardships are buried and their tombstones are of as much interest as the church itself.

The old pewter communion pitcher, which was a part of the furnishings of the church, sold for 80 cents.—Lansdale (Pa.) Telegram to the New York Sun.

CHANGES IN HOLY CITY.

Even the structures of the ancient city of Jerusalem have changed. Where once were crumbling walls and ancient temples are now blocks of government buildings; on the site of the Jaffa gate is a broad and imposing avenue. In the streets are tramways and taxicabs, and the western watercart has supplanted the man on foot with his goatskin of water. In the plains of Sharon and on the tableland between Jaffa and Jerusalem, steam-driven threshing machines and self-binding reapers are at work. Water is supplied by means of pumps driven by motors, Abraham's well at Beersheba being pumped in this fashion. Up-to-date motor-boats now cross the Sea of Galilee, and a scheme is under consideration whereby similar boats will ply the River Jordan.

BURMA'S PRODUCT OF JADE.

Practically all of the jade now mined comes from Burma, though New Zealand is a producer of some note. China takes practically the entire output. In Burma the privilege of mining it has been possessed by the same Indian or Shan tribe for many generations. The method employed is only the crudest. Indeed, experts declare that the introduction of modern methods would, if they proved successful, defeat themselves by memorializing values. The Chinese prefer jade which is of a dark green color, free from all mottles, and jade of this particular grade is worth, in a general way, its weight in gold. There are imitations of jade on the market, generally produced in Europe, which only experts can detect, and a large amount of this imitation stone, manufactured into jewelry in Hongkong and Canton, is sold to tourists as jade.

FIGURES ON TUBERCULOSIS.

While the tuberculosis death rate is falling rapidly in every civilized country, due largely to vigorous campaigns against tuberculosis, recent figures given out by the international congress on tuberculosis at Rome show that from one-tenth to one-fourth of the total mortality of Europe is caused by this disease. The approximate number of deaths in each million population from tuberculosis in certain countries is indicated in the following table:

Russia, 4,000; Austria-Hungary, 3,500; France, 3,000; Germany, 2,200; Holland, 1,900; Italy, 1,800; Scotland, 1,700; United States, 1,600; England, 1,400.

The United States death rate is for only a little more than one-half the population or for the registration area, and is not strictly comparable with the others.

OCEAN-AUTOMOBILE.

On September 19 the craft in New York Harbor looked with wondering eyes upon a strange vessel which glided swiftly and noiselessly without smoke stack or sails, through the shipping to her dock. She was the Christian X. of the Hamburg-American line, 7,300 tons burden, the first motor ship which has visited this port, and she arrived from New Orleans to get fuel oil to run her to Hamburg. Her captain said that she consumed ten tons of oil a day. He calls her the first ocean automobile.

Odd Fellows Home Opened

The new Odd Fellows' Home at Saratoga was formally opened last week.

That everything might be in readiness for the removal, the dairy herd of the home farm and the pigs and chickens were shipped from Oroville the preceding Thursday and formed three carloads in themselves. The swine number about 30 and the fowls 350.

The abandoned home at Oroville will possibly be taken over by the Pacific district of the Loyal order of Moose, which has an option on the purchase of the property good until December 1, and which is considering using it under plans similar to those of the Odd Fellows.

The Ignoble George IV.

Then there was the precious regent. What a creature! Good men and bad men unite in saying that he was absolutely without a virtue. The shrewd, calculating Greville described him in words that burn; the great duke, his chief subject, uses language of dry scorn, "The king could only act the part of a gentleman for ten minutes at a time," and we find the commonest satellites of the court despised the wicked fribble who wore the crown of England. Faithless to women, faithless to men, a coward, a liar, a mean and groveling cheat, George IV. nevertheless clung to a belief in his own virtues, and if we study the accbuilt of his farcical progress through Scotland we find that he imagined himself to be a useful and genuinely kingly personage. No man, except perhaps Philippe Egalite, was ever so contemned and hated, and until his death he imagined himself to be a good man. —Runciman "Sidelights."
